Spumante Brut

“Simmetrie”

The original layout of the castle was based on a square foundation, around which the rooms were built in a perfectly symmetrical fashion. Similarly, in wine, symmetry regulates the different sensory components, giving a more pleasant and balanced aromatic and taste experience.

Characteristics

A crisp, summery rosé with an alluring ruby hue and refreshing floral aromas with an unusual hint of cherry. It is contained in a special eye-catching white glass bottle to show off its exceptional pearly colour to the full. Its vibrant colour and fruity nose give it an original and highly distinctive character. This rosé is enviably versatile with food, allowing extremely balanced and interesting pairings. Indeed, when a white wine is not enough for a food and a red is simply too much, the answer is often a rosé.

Vinification

After harvesting and the addition of yeasts, the Merlot grapes are drawn off (after lifting the cap of grape solids the clear must is extracted from the entire mass to achieve a greater concentration of skins in the remaining wine); consequently only part of the red colour remains in the extracted must, ensuring the desired hue of the final product. Fermentation takes place at a controlled temperature of 14°C and is followed by racking, light clarification to stabilise the proteins and subsequent filtration. Bottling is performed after second fermentation in steel pressure tanks (autoclaves), where the internal pressure increases for a month to around 5 atm until fermentation is complete. The wine is then clarified before final filtration.
